AN OLD IDEA.

Every strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases, and that the best way to purify the blood is a loss for the formula of Lown's Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected in this way are well known and afford a strong argument in favor of the use of Lown's Iron Bitters. It is sold by all dealers.

The One Day Gold Cure.

Cold in head and sore throat cured by Kee-ment's Chocolate Laxative Quinine. As easy to take as candy. "Children cry for them."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and by constantly failing to cure it with any treatment, it was believed to be incurable.

Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 7, 1890.

Remember that you can't vote unless you register by the 13th inst.

The city council failed to transact any business Monday night for the lack of a quorum being present.

REMOVED.—My customers will find me at the Thomas building where I hope they will continue their patronage. J. H. McKEE.

H. D. Gurley visited Atlanta this week and on his return went up to Tallulah Falls for the first time enjoying his trip very much.

Many weekly papers clip news items from the NUGGET. Even our home contemporary the Signal. It does this in order to secure its readers news.

Mr. Jones, brother of Dr. Jones, has purchased a lot from E. E. Crissom down at Mechanicsville and will put up a residence on the same at once.

Little Mary Joe, the eleven months old daughter of Milton A. Smith, of Amistown, Ala., died in Dahlonega shortly after dark on the 4th inst.

Rev. — O'Shields, of Hall county, a graduate of Mercer University, has been elected pastor of the Dahlonega Baptist church for another year.

About fifteen hands who had been working for the Consolidated Co. left this week for Decatur on account of better wages being paid at that place for common labor.

It seems from a recent investigation that Dahlonega is only 1441 feet above sea level and Atlanta 1050. Yet this is high enough to make Dahlonega a delightful resort for visitors.

Judge Tate says he will fix the tax rate of Lumpkin county next week, which he thinks added to the state tax will be $1.05 on the hundred, fifteen cents cheaper than last year.

Chas. A. Mauston, of Atlanta, a son-in-law of J. F. Castleberry, has been this week taking views of Dahlonega, the mines, etc., which will appear in the Atlanta and New York Journals.

The fall session of the N. G. A. College usually begins the first week in September but this time the opening begins next week the 12th, at which time Prof. Stewart informs us that he expects a large number of students.

W. L. Cochran of Huntsville, Ga., was up on a visit to friends and relatives in this county last Monday, becoming so much interested in Dahlonega while here as to cause him to subscribe for the NUGGET in order to keep posted in all local affairs here.

The moving of the big boiler across the mountain by the Consolidated Co. didn't stop for Sunday but went right on causing it to be very inconvenient in some places on the road for people going to church to pass. The teams belonged to church members in this country.

Y. R. Hicks, who was nominated at the recent democratic primary for county surveyor during his absence while teaching at Hoyle, Ga., without opposition, returned to Dahlonega last Monday highly pleased with the manner in which his friends had treated him while he was away.

Some of the citizens of Dahlonega attended the baptizing at Mt. Airy, in Union county last Sunday. Fully 400 persons were said to be present. Many unable to get standing room near occupied positions in trees while Joe Marr sat on the fence. Twenty-eight were baptized.

The public school last Tuesday opened with a fine attendance—over 150 pupils. In addition to the new lady teacher heretofore mentioned is Miss — Martin, a sister of the principal, which enables them to instruct more and better even a larger number of pupils than heretofore.

Miss Ida, daughter of B. F. Anderson, Jr., is at the point of death as we go to press.

G. D. Bruce is going to put up a photograph gallery on the Masonic Hall lot at an early day.

Hoy, the little two year old son of Dr. and Mrs. Cavender died in the eastern portion of this county on the 28th ult.

It is said that a certain married man in Dahlonega is wearing a ladies ring. Love works in many mysterious ways.

Henry Thomas, after an absence of several years from Dahlonega, has returned on a short visit. He has had fever and returned to the mountains to recuperate his health.

The officers of the Consolidated Co. have been moved to the Hall House, making it much more convenient and pleasant for those filling them, at the same time giving the heart of town a much more business appearance.

Our friend John D. Stargel, who went from Lumpkin county and located at Triton Factory some years ago, after being sick fourteen months has returned for awhile as advised by his physician to see if the change will not improve his health.

The "croaker" writer under the head of mining news in the Signal of last week seems to be very much worried about the churches not being lit up on Sunday nights by electricity. Why should he worry about this when if his appearance has darkened any church door since he has been here we have not heard of it.

While the preacher was talking religion to his congregation Sunday night at the colored Methodist church some one fired a pistol not far off twice. This shooting frequently occurs in the outskirts of Dahlonega. If the person is caught and brought before Mayor Price he will make it so hot for him that he will not forget it a long time.

At the earnest solicitation of friends, I have consented to remain in Dahlonega, as teacher of music, and after September the twelfth, will be found at the N. G. A. College during the morning and afternoon hours. Terms three dollars for twelve lessons. References, Prof. A. W. Van Hoose, Gainesville Seminary, Prof. C. J. Wallace, director of music, Gainesville Conservatory of music.

LILLIAN BELL.

While out about the college last Sunday we noticed improvements being made in that part of town. Besides a big change being made in Judge Brittain's residence recently Squire W. J. Worley is adding much towards the looks of his house with the use of the carpenters saw and hammer and the painters brush. Then there is W. J. Hightower who has added another story and otherwise enlarged and improved his residence making it one of the most attractive places in Dahlonega. In fact improvements are being made in all parts of Dahlonega.

Considerable work is being done about the college in the way of improvements. The library rooms have been nicely shelved and painted, and the books are being placed in order and fully catalogued. The arrangements are far superior to anything heretofore. The library and reading rooms will be open to students daily. Over two hundred choice new books have just been ordered, and a good supply of newspapers and magazines will be kept in the reading room.

All of the lower story of the chapel wing has been arranged for the business department, and partitions have been changed accordingly. The type-writing division will have a room to itself. The partition in the rear of the english room has been changed and the old physical laboratory room has been made into a fine recitation room. The large platform has been removed from the english room. Work on the eight now students' cottages is progressing rapidly, and they will be ready for use about the time college opens.

Londsville camp meeting was visited by only a few attended from this place. No disturbance occurred that we have heard of so far.

The old lady Miss Miller who was sent to the paupers home about a year ago died last Friday. This leaves seven inmates at the home now.

Mrs. Lucinda Elliott died in Porter Springs district on Aug. 21st instead of the day previous, who had been a member of the Baptist church for 70 years.

TO MINERS.—For sale a few hundred feet of spiral riveted pipe and a No. 1 latest improved giant, second hand but as good as new, at a bargain. Enquire at this office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ricketts wish to express their thanks to the good people of Dahlonega for their kindness during the sickness and death of their little daughter.

A great many of the colored people attended camp meeting at Rock Springs in White county last Saturday and Sunday. Some left here drunk and we guess they had a good time.

We have a tuition ticket to the N. G. A. College which can be had at a small reduction, if it is not disposed of soon we will enter college ourselves and brighten up a little and learn why it is that now they spell envelope and pronounce it envelope.

A strange negro entered sheriff Davis' premises last Sunday night but the colored intruder to fight by shooting at him a time or two. The negro was doubtless unaware that he was in the jail house for this is the fast place people generally wish to enter.

John Cain was brought back to Dahlonega from Jackson county last Monday by James Walker, appointed by the sheriff to make this trip, on a warrant sworn out by Sarah Guerin who resides near Porter Springs, charging him with seduction. The wifeman was swore out some time ago and placed in the hands of batifull Robinson, John got wind of it and left out for his old home in Jackson. A few days ago the woman bearing of his whereabouts got the warrant and carried it to the sheriff of that county who made the arrest and notified the authorities here. Sarah seemed to be determined to keep in sight of the fugitive, as she went to the jail in Jefferson and remained until John was sent for. Then she procured a ticket and rode on the same train that John occupied until they reached Gainesville, at which place she secured a seat in the mail back and arrived here soon after John and his guard did. In other words she stuck to John Cain like a leach until he was placed safely in jail at Dahlonega. Afterwards the troubled woman told the defendant that she would buy the license if he would marry her and be willing to divorce him. This the imprisoned man agreed to. Tuesday evening she called on Rev. W. H. McAfee to go out and marry them. Mr. McAfee consented and escorted her to the prison where the happy reunion was to take place followed by several anxious spectators. Upon reaching the head of the stairs and announcing ready John peeped through the grates and Sarah not looking to him as sweet and pretty as she once did caused him to decline, and as Mr. McAfee did not charge in advance for his services got nothing for his trip but departed with a smile. Wednesday the defendant was brought out for trial who employed Col. Baker to defend him. Some eight or ten married men had been summoned for the defendant. The court room was cleared of all children while a number of old gray headed church members reared back for a smile. In the meantime the prosecutor came in with another warrant for the defendant charging him with bastardy. The wives of two of the witnesses were also wanted to testify and the case was continued until next Thursday.

Mr. Geo. T. Barnes and lady of Augusta, Ga., have returned home after a very pleasant visit to our city. Mr. Barnes owns valuable real estate within the corporate limits and came down to look after it. This is his first visit to our city but we hope that it will not be the last one. The gentleman is very heavy and drowsy, who has been waiting for the last twenty-five years hoping that he would get to ride here on the railroad but a few days ago he and his good lady decided to wait no longer and pulled out money for the trip in safety saying nothing about our delightful climate which they enjoyed so much. We say to them come again and stay longer. The gates of Dahlonega are always open to you.

A nice line of type writer paper at the NUGGET office at a reasonable price.

New buildings continue to go up in Dahlonega causing the saw mill men to be happy.

A few good carpenters will find employment by applying to F. W. Hall, Dahlonega, Ga.

All the candidates so far have announced in the NUGGET, who had been a member of the Baptist church for 70 years.

Assistant postmaster Price is visiting friends and relatives in Atlanta this week. Harry Gurley occupies his position during his absence.

Keep an eye on the dates of your paper and renew when the time expires if you wish the continuation of its weekly visits otherwise it will be stopped.

We will tell you something interesting when we get through publishing the jury list as revised at the last sitting—something that you never heard of before.

Dr. Stow has already contracted for the building of an office in his lot below Main Street bridge. It will be 20x30, three stories high, neat and convenient in every respect.

If there is any one taking the NUGGET dissatisfied with it let them notify us and we will discontinue it. It speaks the truth and if you are opposed to it you had better make it known.

The cleanest, neatest, nearest whole grain rice you have seen is at B. R. Meaders & Sons, and the price is two and a half cents lower than is usually charged for cracked yellow rice.

The NUGGET gives most of the home news a week earlier than you get it otherwise is why so many people take it. They want it while it is fresh and not removed so as to appear as original in other papers.

The college dormitory is undergoing some repairs, which will be in charge of C. F. Benedict instead of Mr. J. W. West, who could not return. Other buildings are going up on the college campus for the accommodation of the students who may wish to attend school.

J. M. Ashley, of Toledo, Ohio, has been spending some time in Dahlonega, having an eye to our mining interests. Mr. Ashley is a great political, one who is said to be so influential in his city as to enable him to control its politics. We are glad to have such gentlemen visit our city, matters not what their politics are, for a man that is influential in politics is no sardine by any means and we like to have such men with us.

If Capt. Hall sells out the remainder of his property—his home place—which he is likely to do, he will locate at Decatur, Ga., where he owns a splendid farm, beautiful place to build and all the railroad conveniences necessary to make it a desirable and convenient place for a home. The Captain has been a resident of Dahlonega for more than thirty years and says he would have remained here had it not been for the inconveniences brought about by the city council. Capt. Hall is a great hand to improve and when he leaves Dahlonega the place has lost one of her most enterprising citizens.

Mr. Geo. T. Barnes and lady of Augusta, Ga., have returned home after a very pleasant visit to our city. Mr. Barnes owns valuable real estate within the corporate limits and came down to look after it. This is his first visit to our city but we hope that it will not be the last one. We say to them come again and stay longer. The gates of Dahlonega are always open to you.

The telephone line from here to Gainesville is being put in splendid condition so as to give as good a system as is had anywhere.

One of the members of the Consolidated Co. remarked recently that they had not yet made any contract with the city council to light up Dahlonega and didn't care to yet for the lack of sufficient power to spare. It may be that in the near future the Crown Mountain Co. can be induced to do so as they will have four motors, one expressly for lighting purposes.

One day last week P. Davidson, the photographer located in Dahlonega was sent for to help hunt his brother John who had mysteriously disappeared from Cleveland, Ga., a few days previous. It is feared that Mr. Davidson is out in the woods dead, as he was in bad health. Only a few months ago he got sick while going home on his bicycle who went off a short distance from the road and lay down. In a short while it rained and he and his brother got neither move or speak. He could hear people pass but was unable to notify there a day or two until he could be found.

The removing of two letters from the mail box by some unknown party after they were dropped into the office has caused postmaster Britain to move the box lower down from the entrance so that they cannot be molested by any one on the outside after being dropped into the box. The letters removed were written by Col. Baker and Capt. Ingersoll more than a month ago—28th or 29th of July. The one from Col. Baker directed to the U. S. authorities in Atlanta contained the official papers in the case of Wm. Dendy, charged with illicit distilling, and the other contained an insurance policy from Capt. Ingersoll. Neither reached their destination and why they didn't could not be told until last Monday morning. City Marshal Harbinson while having some out houses moved beyond the graded school house discovered two envelopes under the corner of one, and upon investigation found it to be the two missing letters, some of the contents of both being torn and the insurance policy gone—neither were of any benefit to the one carrying them there.

By referring to our first page this week you will find our new subscribers names for August—73 in number—which shows the public how well the people both far and near appreciate the NUGGET. On November 30th, 1890, we leased the paper from Capt. F. W. Hall and started out with only fifty cents in money and not a single subscriber, as Mr. McNeely, the former editor of the NUGGET, after several years trial made a failure in the business and pulled up stakes and left for other parts, taking with him his subscription book, causing us to have to make an entirely new beginning. Then everything was very dull in Dahlonega and money unusually scarce, but nevertheless we worked the harder, getting a sufficient patronage to cause us to believe that we could make a living at the business and purchased the outfit a year afterwards on five years time and renewed our energy. At times it seemed that we would fail to ever meet our obligation but the encouragement and assistance of kind friends and patrons caused us to spur up and move on until the NUGGET soon reached the household of hundreds of people every week enabling us to meet every obligation until the first day of September we paid up every dollar which was due on the outfit and to-day occupy our own building and owe no one a cent.

On the 1st of October we began to publish the NUGGET again, and the public responded to our efforts and we have been progressing ever since. The mill is doing splendidly, producing large quantities of gold which are melted into bricks that are nice to look at. The chlorination plant has been ready for operation some time, which will be started up when a sufficient amount of material is procured so as to keep it running when commenced without any stopping, being very expensive to start up again after a delay.

The grading of the site for the mill at the Standard was completed last week and the grading for the beginning of a new shaft at the Mary Henry has been commenced. The sinking of deep shafts on the Standard property is going to cause investors to open their eyes and put in the money necessary to build the mill and operate the mine, for it has been clearly demonstrated on adjoining property that the veins do not only grow bigger as they are gone down on but much richer. Until recently northern capitalists were not convinced of this fact, having an idea that the mines here were only surface veins. Only a few months ago we heard a gentleman who owned stock in the Consolidated Co., say that he would not invest one hundred cents in the Standard until shafts were sunk so as to determine whether deep mining would pay here. This is being done, satisfying all beyond a shadow of a doubt that the veins continue deep as well as rich.

Mining Notes.

Reports come from Dawson that they have struck ore worth from $20 to $60 per ton. One vein a five footer.

The directors of the Consolidated Co. have been here again this week. They meet every two weeks for the transaction of business. It is a big company, one which is doing wonderful things here.

They are smiling again down at the Calhoun. After mining four weeks they made a clean up of 40 ounces. They have been running this mine for over a year and each mouth it has produced a neat sum of money as profit to its owner.

Tom Beasley, residing in the upper part of the county, seems to be meeting with success in the mining business, judging from the nice lot of nuggets he brings in for sale frequently. Some of those he sold here last week weighing five, seven and nine pennyweights.

Judge J. B. Estes, was here Wednesday and granted the Charter to the owners of the Long Street Mine. More stock will doubtless be issued and the company enlarged. This mine has already yielded a handsome dividend and rich veins are being discovered each day that shows this to be one of the richest mines in North Georgia.—Cleveland Courier

H. L. Thompson left Wednesday to take charge of the general management of the work of cutting the 1,500 foot tunnel through the Blue Ridge for the Consolidated Co. Mr. Thompson has been in the employ of the Co. for some time and has proven himself fully able to master anything he undertakes, the directors being fully convinced of the fact.

The reports of the heavy blasting in the lower edge of town every day reminds us of the fact that the Crown Mountain Company is moving right along with the work, getting ready as soon as possible to commence crushing some of the large amount of rich ore that is ready for the mill. Handa are engaged at both ends of the line digging holes in readiness for the posts so as to transmit by wire the power to the plant. They will have four motors. One for each mill, concentrators, crusher and lights.

New veins are frequently being discovered down at the Standard. On 20th ult. a very large sulphurated vein was struck in Shaft No. 1, being some five or six feet large. Really at last accounts the exact size was not known as they had not cut through it. Pieces of the vein were torn out weighing some four or five hundred pounds. This was struck at a depth of one hundred feet. All other work at the Consolidated is progressing in the usual business like manner. The mill is doing splendidly, producing large quantities of gold which are melted into bricks that are nice to look at. The chlorination plant has been ready for operation some time, which will be started up when a sufficient amount of material is procured so as to keep it running when commenced without any stopping, being very expensive to start up again after a delay.

Drifting Through Life.

Am I drifting through life? This is the question every person should ask themselves, he that wandereth is like the waves of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. A double minded man is unstable in all his ways; James, 1:6, 8.

Young man are you drifting? If so the longer you drift, the harder it will be for you to bend your back to the oar and steer your back against wind and wave.

What a difference there is between a drift-log tossed this way and that with ever shift of the wind and a steamer that keeps a steadfast course in spite of gales and currents. This would be the expression of the difference between a purposeless and a purposeful man. Where will the drift log land? This is a question hardly less difficult to answer than the one "What will become of the sinless man?" Where one young man does this, perhaps ten slip, or slide, or stumble into the occupation that is nearest, easiest and most convenient, thinking only of immediate pleasure or necessity, and with no well defined plans for the future.

How many pleasure boats have drifted over the Niagara? How many have drifted over the Niagara of life?

W. T. Ellis has said, "Youth to day needs to hear a ringing prophet message Beware of crowds!" Half the evils that curse young womanhood and manhood are the consequence of doing as the crowd does. Go with the multitude and you will have nowhere worth going.

Follow the crowd and you will be led astray. Drift with common current and you will drift into danger, defeat and death. Drifting can never land one side of disappointment and ruin. It has been truly remarked,

No soul has ever drifted into heaven, purpose alone enters up there. There are many ways that lead to destruction; drifting with the current affairs is one of these.

What must I do to be saved, in this world or the next? Make a decision and abide it. What must I do to be lost? Nothing, absolutely nothing. But drifting is nothing is dangerous to others besides those who are drifting. A person may surrender his own life to be driven by pleasure's currents and passion's gusts, but the loss will not be his alone.

The wind never blows for that sailor who knows not where he is bound, "All who will," says a certain man, "may make a good harbor with their lives. If we drift onto the rocks, or idle decay as we rest on the moving tide, the fault is entirely our own.—H. B. S., in Campbell County News.

Eight Reasons Why You Should Trade at Home.

Why trade at home? To answer this question in detail would require a prolix essay on the mutual relations of individuals and classes in the organism of society. Briefly stated the advantages in trading at home are:

1. You see what you get and get what you want.

2. If your purchase fails to meet your requirements you can exchange it for something that will suit you.

3. Money spent at home stays at home and initiates the local currency.

4. An honest merchant will handle only honest goods, and will always endeavor to please an honest customer.

5. When you purchase the wares of a first-class merchant, he will bestow himself to trade with you when you have anything to sell.

6. The difference in the local price and the foreign price for an article is generally offset by freight or express charges.

7. If you are displeased with an article purchased by catalog in Atlanta or elsewhere, to return it inflates the price to such an extent that the bargain feature is overcome by incidental charges.

8. An up-to-date merchant will not make his prices shifted beyond a reasonable margin of profit.

Lastly, it promotes a mutual dependency among all avocations, and thus destroys individualism and class strife.—Marietta Journal.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 14, 1900.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. Post Office as Second Class Matter.

Mayor, Woodward, of Atlanta, has agreed to resign if he takes another drink of liquor.

Jackson, who killed a man on the train in Habersham county recently, was acquitted of murder last week.

Mrs. Ira Cox, of White county, was killed on Wednesday of last week during the runaway of a team attached to the buggy she was in.

A slip of the finger last week caused us to say that 337 votes were cast in the Dawson county primary when it should have been 297.

The election ticket in White county will be more than three feet long as it will be left to the voters on that day whether White county will issue bonds to the amount of $5,000 for the building of a new jail.

Two white girls, Emma and Hattie Spencer, age 15 and 18, were sentenced last week by Judge Prior in Gainesville on the charge of larceny from the house to pay a fine of $25 each or to serve in the chain gang six months.

The Cleveland Courier reaches us this week considerably reduced in size, being only 9x12. But promises to do better in the future. It has often been said that religion and politics won't mix and its editor had better quit one or the other.

Texas was visited by a dreadful storm on Saturday causing a fearful loss of life and property. Said to be five thousand victims in Galveston alone and four thousand houses destroyed. From all parts of the state come tidings of wreck and ruin.

This we find in the manufacturer's Record of a recent date from L. M. Potter, of New York, which shows how the republicans and what they propose to do if Bryan is elected, as follows: "Relying to your favor of the 17th, will say, the Etowah iron property, of north Georgia, has been purchased by myself and associates. The Etowah is the greatest iron property in the south, composed of 18,000 acres of mineral land and a water-power of 12,000 horse power. If McKinley is elected the purchasers with whom I am associated propose erecting iron furnaces, mill, etc., as well as utilizing the large water power for electrical purposes. If Bryan with his '16 to 17' scuttle party, be unfortunately elected, the property will remain idle indefinitely; as it is a 'sound' property, purchased and paid for with 'sound' money by 'sound' business men."

Rev. Frank A. O'Kelly, who was recently called to the pastorate of the Baptist church at this place, has accepted the call, and preached his first sermon on last Sunday morning. He was listened to by a large congregation from all the churches. His sermon, which he called "a talk to those who had sent for him," was full of gospel truths. He has youth and vigorous strength on his side, added to a mind that has been improved and cultivated at our best schools. He seems anxious to be in touch with all classes in our midst, who may now devote the most of his services to the youth of the community, and those engaged in industrial pursuits. He will find here plenty of work to do both for his hands and his heart. He commutes with all our people we sincerely welcome Mr. O'Kelly to a home in our midst. Born and reared within a dozen or so miles of Dahlonega, in Hall county, to many he will need no introduction. We are requested to state that he will preach at the Baptist church every Sunday in the month. Heretofore this church was opened about half the time on Sundays. To those who like to attend divine service each Sabbath this will be welcome information. Sabbath school as usual at 9 a.m.

Reply to Voter.

EDITOR NUGGET:

In your issue of the 31st ult., I find a communication from one who signs his name as "Voter," to which I desire, if you will permit me, to reply to in a very brief manner, as it is useless to take up my time and your space in answering a person who tries to make a political pointer without any foundation whatever.

The wise writer speaks in the highest terms of Mr. McAfee because he is the choice of the democratic primary in Lumpkin county, receiving only 214 votes out of a voting population of fifteen or sixteen hundred, and ridicules Mr. Castleberry simply because he is an independent candidate and submits his case to be decided by the people at the ballot box instead of a plan suggested by a court house ring.

Now as to their official records Mr. Castleberry's shows up as well, if not better than Mr. McAfees. The former always had an eye to the interest of his constituents, mattered not how poor they were. This I cannot say for the latter. Up to a quarter of a century ago about, two hundred dollars worth of property was exempt from taxation. Ask Mr. McAfee if he didn't cast his vote to change this law so as even tax the poor man's pot and skillet while he was representing us in the senate the first time. Also ask him if he didn't vote to tax the growing crops.

Now as to Mr. McAfee's democracy there is no comparison between the one he defeated in the primary. Capt. Williams never did desert the democratic party. Mr. McAfee did, and just as soon as failed to get an office in the new party he quit it.

ANOTHER VOTER.

Last weeks Cleveland Courier contained the letter appearing in the Nugget of the 24th ult., in the interest of Mr. W. H. McAfee who is a candidate against Mr. Castleberry for the senate from this district, and credited the article as being original and an expression from the editor of the Nugget, which is a mistake. We are running this paper in the interest of the people and not for any political party or man, but have given a column each week for any one to discuss the political issues of the day as they see proper. We are out of politics and have not expressed ourselves for but one man through the columns of the Nugget. Other people can vote as they please and we will do the same. We have nothing against Mr. McAfee personally for he has always been a warm friend to us. We do not feel disposed to support him this time but will not ask a single man to vote against him. If he is elected it will be all right with us. One reason for not supporting him is that some years ago he was one of the leaders of the popular party, and by his conversation and in his addresses we were led to believe that no other party could save the country but this one. Everything worked well until a convention was held to put out candidates for the senate and house and when Mr. McAfee failed to get the nomination for the senate he flew the black and let the party as suddenly as the firing of a cannon, and fluctuating the party as it has never had another convention in Lumpkin county. Another reason is this: A short time ago during the sickness of the mayor and the absence of the mayor pro tem Mr. McAfee was appointed to act and try a lot of parties for violating a certain ordinance, having hoggs in less than a quarter of an acre lot—we being one of the number. We asked Mr. McAfee if he wouldn't let us off by complying with the law, like the mayor did in some former cases. He said that "he didn't know about that" and wouldn't agree to try the cases when the time arrived. Some time afterwards Mr. Stewart, of more prominence than myself, called me to his office, was up before the mayor for violating this same ordinance. The mayor wouldn't act and the matter went before the council and when a vote was taken Mr. McAfee voted to acquit him. All should be treated alike.

Mining Notes.

The Union Store Company.

Work commenced at the Lookhart this week.

A twenty stamp mill is to be built at the Palmour mine in Dawson county.

The site for the Crown Mountain Co's mill was completed this week. The holes for all the telephone posts were finished up middle of the week and an electrician commenced Monday doing his part of the work. While the rock work on the canal is being pushed as fast as labor and dynamite can do it.

The Stewart property near Atlanta is still showing up well. Two miners, Will Lemly and Parker Edmonson, secured a short lease some days ago to work at a certain point on the property and in two days made fifty pennyeagans by the use of a mortar. Such discoveries as this convince the public that the Stewart is one of the best mines in Lumpkin county.

Development work is still going on at the Lumpkin mine under the supervision of Mr. Walker who gives the mine his closest personal attention, resulting in some splendid discoveries. A vein was struck recently which showed much of the yellow metal. Such discoveries as this are very encouraging, for as long as miners can find rock with the gold plainly visible to the natural eye there is no room for any discouragement.

The water is getting low and will likely continue for several weeks yet, so much so as to work to a disadvantage to the mining industry at some of the mines not being prepared for the dry season. 70 stamps have been shut down at the Hand and we understand the whole mill will likely be stopped to-day until it rains enough to increase the water. Other work is progressing as usual. At the Blue Ridge as many hands as can be worked to an advantage are being used in cutting the long tunnel and ditches to convey more water to the Consolidated mine.

The rich gold discoveries in this section are even attracting the attention of the California miners. Within the past two or three weeks we have received letters from parties in that state making inquiries about the mines here. Some years ago people went from Dahlonega and Lumpkin county to California in search of a richer field, little dreaming then that we had just as rich mines here; but they had not been sufficiently developed at that time to give out the information. But now that it is known people are flocking here from every part of the country, investing and making money.

As we are written to frequently enquiring what miners wages are in Lumpkin county, will state that it depends entirely upon their knowledge of the work. Common laborers for outside work get from eighty to ninety cents per day. Underground hands receive from one dollar to one fifty per day. Superintendents wages vary in price from one fifty to five and ten dollars per day. Also depends upon their experience and where they are from. Western men get better wages than the Georgia miners. The former having a greater knowledge of the management of the modern machinery giving them the advantage we suppose, is the reason they receive better wages than the Georgia miners.

Off on for four years Tom Beasley and his sons have been in search of a rich vein which they have reasons to believe is on certain property near the line of White and Lumpkin. And during this search they have taken out more than a thousand pennyeagans, and that two from a very small place—nuggets removed ranging in various sizes, some weighing more than ten pennyeagans. After working awhile and failing to find the vein they would suspend probably for months. Then they would go and try again, and at this time are engaged taking out many nuggets and doing well.

Should they succeed in discovering the vein which yields these rich deposits it will pay them all lost time. A vein containing six many nuggets and such rich ones is bound to prove of much value.

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 14, 1900.

John Gaddis died of fever last Tuesday in Hightower district.

Mr. Green Marlow was married to Miss Matilda Sain in Hightower district a few days ago.

F. J. Williams and Miss America Gurley, both of Union county, were wedded last Sunday.

Charlie Shelton, who went from this county to Banks and married three years ago now has five children at his house. Two first sets being twins.

The frequent visits by an old widower in Dahlonega means that a lady in Union county has won his affections and he will be alone in the world but a short time longer.

One or two of the children of Scott Stringer have the scarlet fever in the eastern portion of this county. Other children are sick with it in Wahoo district, but only one death has occurred.

Dr. Kling and lady, of Atlanta, who have been spending the summer here, received a telegram Monday night stating that Mrs. Kling's mother was very sick and they left out the next morning.

Last Sunday just before the baptizing at Grindell's Ford, several young men in order to be conspicuous got in a boat for a change. The boat capsized and they all got a ducking in the presence of their sweethearts.

On Monday E. Carroll, of Dahlonega, received the intelligence that his son Alman in White county had been badly carved up by the former sheriff of that county who is now a candidate for treasurer. They fell out about politics.

City Marshal Harbison seized a keg of brandy down the Aurora road last Tuesday night which was being disposed of by two parties—one a preacher's son. They escaped and the brandy was shipped to Collector Richardson at Gainesville.

Bill Dotson, while intoxicated went out and cut up a portion of Docin Becks household goods Tuesday, night being the effects of some of the contents of the keg of brandy gotten before Marshal Harbison seized it. Bill was lodged in jail until next morning when he was bound over to the Superior Court in a fifty dollar bond.

We hear a good deal complaining from the patrons of the public school here caused by some of the teachers making frequent calls on pupils to buy things which they (the patrons) think is useless, making the school very expensive after all. They should use as much economy as possible, on account of some of the patrons not being able to meet the demands.

Col. T. L. Lewis, of Alpharetta, Ga., who used to reside in Dahlonega and left here 30 years ago, was back this week to enter his son in college. It seemed to be a great pleasure to the Colonel for him to visit the old home place where Capt. Worley now resides, and look upon the building where he spent many happy moments while a young man long years ago.

The city council at a meeting this week passed an ordinance fining any doctor within the corporate limits of Dahlonega who fails to report any infectious disease that might appear here, from five to fifty dollars. This is a good ordinance, which will enable her citizens to get a true statement of any contagious disease that might break out in our city.

At the meeting of the city council last Tuesday night the board of health made a report which is very encouraging. Dr. Whelchel said that he had 18 patients in June and now had only three. Dr. Jones said that the sickness here now was nothing comparatively speaking. They recommended that all buildings believed to contain any kind of germ injurious to health be fumigated.

We have been supplied with all the back numbers of the NUGGET advertised for except one—December 29th.

Look at the dates on your paper which shows when you either renewed or subscribed and govern yourselves accordingly.

Miss Mollie Dowdy and Mr. Jessie Ray were wedded a few days ago in Crumby's district, Rev. A. H. Stargel officiating.

The telephone line from here to Gainesville has been put in good shape, making it a system not surpassed by any either far or near.

John L. Burns, who superintended a large amount of the construction work for the Consolidated Co. at Dahlonega, is now located at Birmingham, Ala.

Malinda Guerrin was imprisoned last Saturday for contempt of court, who made bond Monday and will likely be on hand when the Superior Court convenes again.

TO MINERS.—For sale a few hundred feet of spiral riveted pipe and a No. 1 latest improved giant. Second hand but as good as new, at a bargain. Enquire at this office.

John Daydson, who we mentioned last week as being missing in White county, was found some days later wandering about in the woods, with his mind very much affected. He didn't recognize his brother for some time.

From reports there is a minister residing in the upper portion of the county badly wanting a wife so much that he is offering a whole lot of chickens as an inducement, having remarked the other day before going into the pulpit that he had eighteen laying hens to begin a new journey of life if he could only find a partner. Now, if there is any young lady in the county desiring to take a preacher with one dozen and a half of good layers let her come forward, and give him her hand and God's heart.

Things have changed considerably in the last 50 or 60 years as to the closing out of old field schools and those taught in town. We heard an old citizen say the other day that he knew of a male teacher, who at the last day of his school would bring a jug of sweetened liquor and treat all the children, both girls and boys. If that was done now the school houses would be crowded with grown people. It is different now. Some teachers treat their pupils on candy while others less liberal allow them to have a candy pulling provided they furnish the sugar.

For several days after the principle office of the Consolidated Co. was moved down to the Hall House and their telephone office arranged after effort was made to ring up Gainesville and the mines with out success. No reply could be had from the central office right in Dahlonega. When the electrician came in Friday Secretary Thompson called him in and wanted to know what in the world was the matter with the thing. An examination was made when it was discovered that they had no connection, the nearest wire being on the far side of the public square. The missing link was made good Tuesday and things are all right now.

C. T. Sanford, of Athens, Ga., who has been in Dahlonega for about a year, undertook to leave the other day without settling his board bill at Mr. McConells amounting to $13. He had been working for the Consolidated Co. and before departing for Gainesville told Mrs. McConnell that he couldn't get his money until the 13th and was allowed to carry off his baggage. After he had left the city it was ascertained that the company owed him nothing. Marshal Harbison was armed with authority to bring him back who investigated the marshal by telephone at Gainesville and the young man was arrested just as he reached the city and escorted to a place of safety until he paid the bill and settled all cost.

Some one entered Joe Bird's house Monday night and stole a feather bed.

Editor Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser was up last Wednesday.

Ben Moore has commenced the erection of his new residence down below Col. Price's.

The first Chinaman we ever heard of being in Dahlonega made his appearance here Wednesday.

A big rattle snake's pilot was killed by a negro man last Saturday in Capt. Hall's lot fronting the NUGGET office.

One of Tom Stringer's sons of this county killed a rattle snake the other day measuring ten inches in circumference.

Mrs. Stephen Rice left for Monticello Wednesday night to visit her daughter Mrs. Fannie Hatfield who is down sick.

The case against John Cain, charged with seduction was dismissed yesterday on account of the prosecutor and witnesses failing to appear against him.

Another separation occurred in Dahlonega recently, caused, we learn, by the pleasant smiles from a married store clerk, which will produce material to keep the divorce mill running.

E. Carrell lost his pocket book on the Broadens' Bridge road a few miles from Dahlonega containing something over $80. Mr. Carrell is a very old and poor man and it is hoped that the one finding it will return it, as most of the money belonged to another person.

J. H. Taylor, of Florida, since his arrival in Dahlonega has purchased lot No. 952 from Col. Price known as the Mahabug lot, which will be run off in to city lots and sold. We like to see such enterprising gentlemen as Mr. Taylor come into our midst and wish him success.

The fall session of the N. G. A. College commence last Wednesday, all the teachers being at their posts with a large number of students on hand for instruction, many of them being new ones, which is very encouraging to all friends of this noble institution which has accomplished so much good for Georgia's young men and daughters.

A few days ago twelve negroes were carried across the mountain to work on the canal and in the tunnel for the Consolidated Co. On Wednesday while they were being run off by the whites two of the negroes were slightly shot we understand. The whites won't allow negroes to work in Union county.

An inspector, whose business it is to look after the arrival and departure of the mails, visited Dahlonega last week who seemed to be very much surprised at the irregularity of the time that has heretofore been made on the Dahlonega and Gainesville line. He said that this mail must come and go on schedule time else heavy fines will be imposed.

It having been reported that students wishing to enter college here were leaving for want of some place to board this week, caused us to enquire of Prof. Stewart, president of the institution in reference to the matter, who informed us that it was all a mistake, that there was a home in Dahlonega for every one who wished to attend college. It may be that one or more returned home but it was because they didn't want to go to college.

But little attention has been paid to the cow ordinance heretofore as Marshal Harbison has had so much other important matters to look after that he didn't have time to run them down and put them in the pound. A recent investigation shows that he is not compelled to impound them but only has to make cases against parties whose cows are seen running at large after night. Cases were made against the following persons first of the week and investigated but so far the mayor has not rendered his decision: Councilman Jones, R. C. Meaders, Fate Carter, Joe Ferguson, G. H. McGuire and W. H. C. Tate.

Another market has been added to Dahlonega's business.

All we need to make Dahlonega one of the liveliest cities in Georgia is a railroad.

We understand that D. M. McKeen, of Dawsonville, has an idea of locating in Dahlonega.

All the free schools in the country have suspended until the fonder pulling season is over.

The beginning of the college and the appearance of many students here make the city still livelier.

Walter Jenkins got boozey enough Sunday to take lodgings in the caboose that night. Rates: $8 and cost.

Times are becoming more prosperous in Dahlonega all along, causing happiness to dwell in every household.

Last Monday was pay day for the Crown Mountain Co., and tomorrow the Consolidated Co. pay off their hands. These are happy occasions for laborers.

It is strange that some women will fall in love with certain doctors and make themselves so conspicuous as to be noticed by the public. A hint to the wise should be sufficient.

The teacher, J. A. Lance, and pupils and patrons of Oak Grove school were very much disappointed last Saturday by photographer Bruce failing to go out and take their pictures. They all dressed up and looked pretty for nothing.

We still have very warm days put very pleasant nights, causing some of our summer visitors to remain a month longer than they first anticipated. There is nothing more delightful than being in a country where you can take a good night's rest.

The manufacturer of chemical liquor in Dahlonega sells it at 35 cents a pint. Some who have tested it say that after taking a drink of the stuff it is almost like swallowing a coal of fire. Should Judge Estes get hold of the fellow he will cool off the purchaser and heat up the dealer.

Charlie Roberts got fighting drunk Sunday night and raised Cain at home, during the time striking his sister Ida with a chair, and at first it was thought that the lick had fractured her arm. Charlie was looked after by Marshal Harbison—$5 and cost satisfying the court.

Gainesville had until last Tuesday to finish raising her $20,000 for the Dahlonega railroad, being $7,000. We do not know whether it was done or not. If it wasn't the road will likely be built to Atlanta or some other point as several splendid inducements have been offered the company interested.

Two negroes, Evan Bell and Tom Anderson, had a difficulty down at the Hand mine late Sunday afternoon, resulting in Evan being carved up considerably on the back, breast and shoulders and Tom leaving out. They fell out about their "spicies" while escorting them in one of the tunnels viewing the underground scenery.

The boys played off a right good joke on a certain widower, residing in Yahoolla recently while he was out courting recently by blacking his red whiskers when asleep. He thinks it was done by his sweetheart, who loves her so that he is willing to have his appearance changed to suit the lady. Each time now before making a call on her he touches up his beard a little with ink.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Richards, a well to do farmer of Forsyth county, last Tuesday who came up for the purpose of entering his son in college. When we saw him he was looking for "Choctaw" Davis who served with him in the civil war and had not been since. Old soldiers always have a kind feeling for each other and glad to meet and talk about the times of long ago, delight.

The colored camp meeting near Dahlonega begins on Wednesday before the second Sunday in October.

The building boom is still on in Dahlonega and the carpenters and lumber men continue to wear pleasant smiles.

Everybody in Dahlonega who wants work can get it causing times to be prosperous. Money and labor will cause prosperity anywhere.

Tom Bell, clerk of the Superior court of Hall county, was in Dahlonega latter part of last week circulating among his numerous friends here.

The Cleveland Courier says if the people between Hall Way and Cleveland will petition they can have a daily mail established. Let them do this at once. This section is far behind in mail facilities.

H. F. Packard, after spending a few weeks in the north returned to the Calhoun last week in company with his lady. Mr. Packard told us Friday that he had registered and had returned to stay. We extend to him and his family a hearty welcome.

A lady told us the other day that she wanted to take the NUGGET as long as she lived. This is very encouraging for the lady is less than 25 years of age and if she lives out the three score years and ten (and we trust she will and us too) she will be of great benefit to the printer.

Joe Mullinax of Hall county, came to Dahlonega with three jugs of wine the other day and got so boozey during the night as to cause Marshal Harbison to take care of him. When found he had a pistol under his head and the jugs near by—one empty, which caused the trouble. One and cost was the penalty.

Mrs. Nancy Robinson, being one of the parties charged with fornication and adultery was placed in jail last Friday where she remained until the following day and made bond. Fletch Keenan was the other party who had been some time before arrested and made bond for his appearance at the next term of Lumpkin Superior court. These are not the only two persons in Lumpkin county guilty of this offense but the only ones that have been caught up with. There are others more prominent guilty but they have so far escaped the strong arm of the law.

Only a few nights after Plez Stevens and Mary Roberts, col., had been fined by the mayor for misconduct unbecoming married people, James Roberts, the husband of Mary, went before Justice Worley and swore out a warrant against the two charging them with fornication and adultery and they were both lodged in jail where they will likely remain until the Superior Court convenes. Jim caught Plez going back up the loft to their den from where he and Mary had been ousted but a few nights before and it was more than he could put up with any longer.

Lee Landrum, after suffering with consumption for a long time died on Tuesday and his remains were buried in Mt. Hope Cemetery yesterday in the presence of many people. He was a good, peaceable, kind hearted citizen and no doubt has gone to rest.

Fiddler pulling is the order of the day with the farmers now.

Later on they will commence manufacturing their syrup and then the pleasure will begin with the young folks at old time candy pullings, making it a season of enjoyment for some time to come. Oh that we could call back about twenty-five years and be with the girls of sweet sixteen pulling candy.

Ice Lipstine with the firm of Eisman & Weil, Atlanta, Ga., visited Dahlonega this week. Mr. Lipstine used to sell clothing to the people of Dahlonega while doing business in Gainesville and by his strict attention to business and fair dealings caused him to win the confidence and esteem of the citizens here resulting in his getting the contract for his house to furnish the students uniforms for the college students.

Mrs. A. L. Palmer died in Dahlonega last Wednesday morning of a complicated disease after an illness of a very short time, and her remains were carried to her home in South Dakota for interment. Mrs. Palmer and her husband were strangers here comparatively speaking as they had only been in our midst only a month or so, nevertheless the bereaved husband has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in the loss of his dear companion.

H. D. Gurley is adding another story to his store house—fixing up for business right.

Rev. A. C. Thomas, of Gainesville, who used to preach in Dahlonega, was in the city this week shaking hands with his many friends.

Mrs. W. C. Moore has returned from Rome after an absence of some weeks. Her husband, who has been sick, will be here in a week or so.

J. G. Gaines, the stranger who got down sick after working here a short while, is being cared for by the city council as he has no relatives or even acquaintances in this section.

V. R. Hicks, who declined to accept the nomination for county surveyor by the democrats of Lumpkin, has accepted a position in St. Charles, S. C. This beats being in politics.

The large party of northerners, members of the Consolidated Co., returned to their homes last Saturday after spending several days in the city transacting much business of importance to the company.

W. H. Price, a mechanic well known in Dahlonega, who has been bridge building for the Central R. R. for a number of years, died at Brunswick on Tuesday and was buried at Gainesville, Ga., the following day.

When wanting gents furnishings call at Frank L. Reese's who carries the most complete line in the city. Also a full line of stationery. Fancy staple groceries just received and a fresh line of candy and crackers.

Recently while Col. Barnes, of Augusta, was here, he and Col. Price had their pictures taken together. The former weighs about 300 pounds while Col. Price is not far behind him, which makes it a pretty big fat photograph.

Lee Landrum, after suffering with consumption for a long time died on Tuesday and his remains were buried in Mt. Hope Cemetery yesterday in the presence of many people. He was a good, peaceable, kind hearted citizen and no doubt has gone to rest.

A Tribute to the Miner.

In man's day the brave man is made a hero; he has the victor's wreath of laurel; dead, he is covered with cypress, and his grave is wet with a nation's tears.

We build monuments to mark his last resting place. He has the seat of honor in public gatherings and legislative halls. But the brave man in peace is unknown. Alive, he has no wreath; dead, no nation's tears, no monument or honor. In the excitement of battle, when all the combative power of man is wide awake and eager, when the roar of cannon, shriek of shell, and whistle of bullet excites every nerve of man to a breaking pitch, it is very easy to do and dare. But in the darkness and gloom of underground life with only a candle by which to see your way, where a loose scale, or falling rock, a rotten ladder, delayed shot, poisoned gas, or fire may bring instant death or suffering in as horrible forms as were ever found on the battlefield—in the face of all these to do heroic act is another thing.

There is no excitement, no innate love of battle, no inspiration of duty towards a nation's colors. If a man is brave there, it is because it is his nature to be brave. And there are thousands who show their bravery in the mines every day.

Every day the man who mines for a living takes his life in his own hands, and he risks it day after day for another. In every mining camp some time during the year a mangled, bloody, shapeless corpse is raised from below. How sad it is to see the mother, wife or brother and children gather at the mouth of the shaft, down which death has just reaped a harvest, and wait, trembling with fear and grief, for the loved one to be raised to the surface. And such events always furnish illustrations of bravery equal to any ever seen or heard of the battlefield where the flag waves and the yell of the charge is heard.

Stand by a shaft when it is necessary for some one to go down on the cage to save his fellow workmen who are imprisoned below, and you will find plenty of men ready to go and face almost certain death. I call to mind one instance when it was necessary for some one to descend into a mine to save the lives of men, and there were plenty of men ready to go. One said,

J. F. MOORE

Still Leads in

Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Hardware, Etc.

"Let me go, John; you have a wife to care for and I have none. I will go in your place." Never were braver words uttered, for in descending that shaft it means almost certain death. Could a man braver on the battlefield?

Only a short time ago two men were working in a shaft. After finishing drilling they loaded their holes and spit the fuses; then they climbed into the bucket went up to the first set of timbers and caught. One of the men was thrown back to the bottom of the shaft. The other gave the signal to stop then lower. He promptly caught the burning fuse and pulled it from the hole and saved the life of his fellowman. In a very few seconds more they would have been blown to atoms.

The miner is just as brave as the soldier. Peace hath her victories no less than war, and they are nobler because they are done without the influence and excitement which forces the soldier to do well.

Bitten by a "Blind Tiger."

A fellow who has evidently been bitten recently by a "blind tiger" gets the following:

"Sing a song of penitence, a fellow full of rye; four and twenty serpents danced before his eye. When his eye was opened he shouted for his life wasn't he a pretty chump to go before his wife? His hat was in the parlor underneath a chair, his boots were in the hallway and his coat was on the stair; his trousers in the kitchen, his collar on the shelf, but he hadn't any idea where he was himself."—Hartwell Sun.

Mining Deal in Progress.

John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, sailed from Liverpool Wednesday for Boston on the result of his visit hangs the investment of a large amount of British capital in American mining properties, as the representative of the syndicate composed of Wehrner, Beit & Co., J. B. Robinson, J. P. Morgan and other capitalists. Mr. Hammond will examine a group of mines in Colorado. If he reports favorable, it is said the syndicate will purchase the mines, the price being $7,000,000.

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 21, 1900.
Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. Post Office
as Second Class Matter.

The advance in cotton is pleasing the farmers who raise it.

In Delaware, O., the other day a negro was run out by an angry mob of 200 citizens for insulting a white girl.

A cyclone struck Madison, Ga., on the 14th inst. and blew down several negro cottages, but only killed two persons.

Judge Gober refused to grant the injunction to restrain the ordinary of Fannin county from building a court house.

The overflow of the public schools in Atlanta is about 400, who will have to go uneducated unless other arrangements are made.

Miss Lillian Clayton, of Boston, recently started south on a crusade against lynching but the negroes at Richardson snubbed her and she returned home.

Only 1,260 voters registered in Lumpkin county. Some of the names of this number appear from two to three different times while probably others are disqualified which will likely reduce the number to about twelve hundred.

Frank Lowery, the colored candidate for sheriff has authorized us to lift from our columns his announcement this week. Frank's race was very short but quite likely he is like the cedard, has carried out the purposes for which his candidacy was intended, and now passes down and out.

It is hard to tell which way Yahoola district, in this county will go yet—whether republican or democratic, as a certain citizen of that district remarked the other day that he was just waiting to see which party would give him the most money to carry the district. And it was a so called republican that made the remark.

Joe Nath Wilkins shot off the first big political gun in Yahoola district the other day in the way of a republican speech of this campaign. He opposed primaries but aimed to support Mr. Bruce, the democratic nominee for the legislature of this county. The speech all the way through was full of wit and wisdom and those not present missed learning something about the great political issue of the day.

This is how an Arkansas editor made his bow to the public: "Our aim: Tell the truth, though the heavens take a tumble. Our paper: Of the people, for the people, to be paid by the people. Our religion: Orthodox, with a firm belief in hell for delinquent subscribers. Our motto: Take all in sight and hustle for more. Our policy: To love our friends and brimstone our enemies; if thine enemy smite thee on thy cheek, swipe him with haste and dexterity at the butt of the most convenient ear. What we advocate: Our country, our flag and one wife at a time. Our object: To live in pomp and splendor.—Ex.

The situation in Galveston, Texas, since the storm has been distressing. Those who were not killed were left in destitute circumstances, being both homeless and penniless. Thousands and thousands of dollars have been sent to their relief from different cities and the government.

The bodies thrown out into the sea floated back to the once prosperous city causing the mayor to have to ask for disinfectants to be sent until they can be buried or otherwise gotten rid of. During all this distress negroes were caught robbing the dead, seven of whom were shot down having their pockets full of fingers containing rings taken from the dead, their fingers being swollen so that they could not be removed otherwise. The stench from the dead bodies is awful and the people are leaving the stricken city as rapidly as possible.

This is the season for slice pots to pie, making it an enjoyable one, for who is it that doesn't love this kind of a dish?

Do you want your name printed on envelopes as cheap as you can buy the blank ones? If so, call at the NUGGET office.

David Whitner died at Auraria last Monday, leaving two little children alone, their mother having died some time ago.

"Shotgun" Walker left last Monday for the mountains to take charge of a crowd of hands working on the Consolidated Co's canal in Union county.

Will Evans (not the Will that is in Atlanta jail) and John Redwine, of Gainesville, were up last Monday night on a fox hunt in the mountains.

New students still continue to come in. They are here from all parts of Georgia, and a nice or better behaved set of young men we never saw in Dahlonega before.

A little child of Howard Ash was buried at Yahoola cemetery last Sunday at the same time that Allen Calhoun's little boy was placed at rest, making it an occasion of unusual sadness.

John McDonald died in Porter Springs district last Sunday after being sick only a few weeks. He was well liked, causing a large crowd of people to attend his burial.

There were no services at the Methodist church last Sunday but the pulpit at both the Baptist and Presbyterian were filled by the pastors, who were greeted by large and attentive congregations.

Since the return of the students nearly every young lady in the city attends church. Some to hear the preacher, some to see and others to be seen. Any way it helps to swell the congregations and encourages the ministrations.

A slight of hand performer who said that he was from Texas, put in his appearance here last Saturday and showed a few tricks, after which he took up a collection but only got $1.50. Some of those making contributions having here before refused to give anything towards charitable purposes, but it may be that they will hereafter be more liberal—this occasion probably being the beginning of their liberality.

Sunday night some one lit down the arch lamp in front of Charlie McAffee and after removing it from the hook broke the lamp all to pieces. It is very fortunate for the party that the currant was not on, had it been the citizens would have known who the perpetrator was by the corpse that lay on the ground. It is not only wrong to molest things of this kind but is very dangerous mischief to fool with electric wires.

Mr. Oscar Loggins was wedded near Auraria last Sunday to Miss Maude Abercrombie by Esquire Peter Duncan. It was a runaway match and the wedding occurred in the middle of the big road in the presence of only two witnesses outside of the squire. This was the second couple that Squire Duncan had married causing him to be a little embarrassed, who left off a portion of the ceremony. But this will make no difference as they are both of good families and will do well.

We observed a sad spectacle in Dahlonega last Saturday, being a young girl, her brother and their mother. The latter carrying a little baby belonging to her daughter who they claimed belonged to a certain married man in the country. He would not help support it and they were in search of a squire to make him do so or cause him to be punished. At last they found one and after the officer had procured his blanks to issue the warrant, they declined to proceed farther until they could see him again and give him another chance to do something for his child. It is very wrong for a married man or any one else to ruin the character of a young girl.

L. H. Helton made a very short race. After his announcement appeared on the fourth page, and a race of only four days he drops down and out.

Last Monday the students organized their literary societies, each receiving about 34 members. There are a number of others here who will join later on.

Two painters, Pool and Ragain, had a fight at the Commissary last Tuesday. The latter got his head bruised and left out without consulting the marshal or mayor. A message was sent to Gainesville for the marshal to hold him up but it seems that he went some other route.

Another wedding occurred in this county last Sunday being Mr. Sherman Stephens, of White Co., to Miss Sallie Stancil of Lumpkin. Rev. D. W. Coldwell officiating. The bride is a daughter of Cader Stancil, a highly respected citizen who resides in Frogtown district in this county.

On account of the bad condition of the steps on the rear part of the court house several persons have measured their lengths on the ground among them ladies. We too came near falling and mashing our nose. They should receive the attention of Judge Tate at once before some one gets badly hurt.

A few weeks ago we stated that a strange horse had been taken up crossing the mountain, supposed to be stolen. Only a few days ago the gentleman having it received a letter from a man in Tennessee saying that it was his. He had seen an account of it in the NUGGET. Newspapers accomplish wonderful things, especially the NUGGET.

We understand that an experienced banker is negotiating with Capt. F. W. Hall for the purchase of his city property opposite the NUGGET, who desires to put up a stock of goods and in connection do a small banking business. This we feel confident would be a paying business if carried on economically and the gentleman wishing to invest thoroughly understands how to do this.

It having reached the ears of Mayor Price from Gainesville that a gentleman had left that county some days ago with a case of scarlet fever in his family and located in Dahlonega, Dr. Jones was sent to make an investigation and found it to be a false alarm. Should a case of scarlet fever or any other contagious disease reach Dahlonega and we don't take it first you will hear it through the columns of the NUGGET.

The stranger Gaines, who has been very sick here and not expected to live is improving. He had no relatives and acquaintances here to look after him and Marshal Harbison and a number of ladies have been giving him the best attention possible. It has been learned that he lived in Robbin county and has parents and an uncle who have been notified of his condition by the marshal.

Later—Marshal Harbison received a letter from Mr. Gaines' mother Wednesday and the poor woman said she was unable to do anything for her son.

Mr. S. W. McMichael is an authority in the statement that nervousness is the characteristic malady of the American nation, and statistics show that nerve deaths number one-fourth of all deaths occurring, mortality being mainly among young people.

is the great specific for this great American disease, because it goes straight to the seat of the weakness, building up health and strength by supplying rich, abundant food and blood to the system thus rousing the liver to activity and regulating all the organs of the body.

Many thousand coal miners have struck in Pennsylvania this week.

James Howard is now on trial at Frankfort, Ky., charged with killing Governor Gobell.

The election of the judges and solicitors by the people should be done away with as soon as the legislature convenes and some better plan adopted.

Ex-Detective Looney, of Atlanta, charged with embezzlement, was turned loose this week, on account of the principal witness failing to appear against him.

The work of driving out the small pox which were so prevalent in Floyd county a few months ago has been completed, the cost amounting to near $10,000.

The election ticket is not quite as long as first reported but will contain about fifty names in this county. There will be about 500 votes cast in Dahlonega causing the managers to have to count 25,000 names before completing it which will give them a right nice job.

All the correspondents in China are sending terrible stories of the wholesale massacre of missionaries and native Christians. It is asserted that during July between 1,000 and 2,000 converts were massacred in the northern provinces. Large numbers of missionaries are still unaccounted for and small hope is entertained of their escape.

Some of the Atlanta ministers kicked because a concert was going to be given in that city by the two brass bands last Sunday night for the benefit of the Texas sufferers. Why so? Collections are taken up on Sundays for ministers and we have yet to heat of the first one to refuse to take the money. Frequently destructive storms come on Sunday and why not secure relief on the same day. Some ministers are most too religious when the money is not coming their way.

HALF WAY, Ga., Sept. 19.
To the voters of Lumpkin Co.:

On account of my son Alfred being confined to his bed with a severe case of typhoid fever, it may be impossible for me to see all the voters before the election on October 3rd. It has been my purpose to see you all and talk the issues personally, and I yet expect to see as many of you as possible, but should I fail to do so I ask one and all to go to the polls on election day and give me your support, assuring you that if elected to the office of ordinary, I will discharge my duties to the best interests of the county, and to the best of my ability. Very Respectfully,

JOHN HUFF.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 21, 1900.

J. M. Miller and lady of Auraria spent last Sunday in Dahlonega.

One of Dahlonega's most clever young men is fixing to engage in matrimony at an early day.

Subscriptions are being taken by Miss Lila Cain for the building of a new church at Long Tubes four miles above Dahlonega.

Deputy Marshal Grizzel made a raid down in Dawson county and cut up two large stills and destroyed about 1,500 gallons of beer last week.

Author Calhoun, son of Allen Calhoun, died in Yahoola district Friday night of some throat trouble after only a few weeks illness, aged 14. His remains were interred in Yahoola cemetery on Sunday following.

Some one, who was supposed to be hungry, entered Luther Hightower's kitchen last Sunday night, Luther woke up and discharged his pistol at the would be thief which caused him to leave out very fast with an empty stomach.

J. H. Taylor, who we mentioned last week as having purchased land lot No. 952 for the purpose of surveying it off into town lots, is successfully carrying out his program, having already sold some and doubtless in the near future many new buildings will be seen going up in that part of town.

O. W. Kirby, a prominent citizen of Belaire, Mich., writes Mr. Kennedy of this city that he expects to visit Dahlonega in the near future to look over this section. Mr. Kirby recently subscribed for the NUGGET in order to familiarize himself with the situation here. We shall be pleased to welcome Mr. Kirby and any others who may desire to investigate the mining interests of Lumpkin county.

Some of the Dahlonega musicians are speaking of having a fiddlers convention in Dahlonega at an early day. This would be a very interesting gathering and we hope it will be held as we are very fond of instrumental music, although we can't even perform on a jews harp, and are at a loss to know what we would do in case we got to that other world and are handed the harp which the preachers talk about having a thousand strings.

On Friday City Marshal Harbin and Geo. Walker arrested a negro here filling the description of Will Edwards who last year killed the chief of police of Concord, N. C., and notified the authorities of that place, when a telegram was received stating that the murderer had been caught and was hung on the 3rd inst. This negro even had the scars on his arms and other places mentioned in the description, but if he is the murderer they have certainly hung the wrong negro.

Friday night while Bob Satterfield and Whitter Brady were at the mouth of one of the turnpicks down at the Hand mine a big skile fell in breaking one of Brady's legs and cutting a big gash in Satterfield's head. On Sunday Brady was carried from his shanty to a more comfortable place at Col. Baker's farm by the instruction of Superintendent Brooks, where he is receiving all the attention necessary and medical aid at the expense of the Consolidated Co.

The other night Alfred Stover, of White county, stopped at W. H. Satterfield to remain until day. Mr. Satterfield told him that some of the boys would be in after awhile, but he had no idea of his having so many and when they commenced coming in Stover, thinking that it might be a mob, lit out of one of the windows and left on double quick time with his clothes under his arm, which very much surprised them for the boys didn't know that he was there or what the man's rapid departure meant.

F. G. Jones' residence is about completed, the painter being now engaged in putting on the finishing touch.

Work has already commenced on G. D. Bruce's photographic gallery which will soon be ready for occupancy.

Capt. Hall visited Hapeville last week and was absent a few days. We understand that the Captain is making arrangements to put up a building on his farm down there.

Already a large number of new houses have been erected in Dahlonega this year and others are going up, causing the ball of progress to still keep rolling in Dahlonega.

The military department is now under the supervision of Prof. Colvin. The Professor has been in charge of military schools which thoroughly acquaints him with this department of the institution.

We are requested to return the thanks of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Anderson to the citizens of Dahlonega for the many kind favors extended them recently during the sickness and death of their daughter.

Mr. Verdell, the pastor of the Dahlonega Methodist church has been engaged in carrying on a protracted meeting at Auraria this week, but we have not learned as yet what success he is making towards saving souls.

The little fourteen months old boy of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thomas last Monday morning. We certainly realize the parents trouble having lost a little boy about the same years ago, and we deeply sympathize with them in their distressed condition.

Our sanctum was visited last Monday by Miss Dora Anderson, of Jackson county, in company with Mrs. M. G. Head, of Dahlonega, and later on Mrs. Brittain of the city made us a call. Each one is a weekly reader of the NUGGET. It is always a pleasure to be honored with a visit from our friends and patrons, more especially when our paper is such a welcome visitor to the homes of these ladies.

James Kirkham, a mechanic who resided out at Jay, Ga., died last Sunday. For many years the deceased suffered with a sore leg, towards the last being scarcely able to get about, though he worked as long as he was able to go, being one of the most industrious men that ever resided in this county. Mr. Kirkham was a very poor man, but being too proud to beg no doubt often felt the want of some of the necessities of life after he got unable to work.

Some time ago a strange negro entered the jail and was shot at by the sheriff, and since that time he has been seen or heard at many other houses in town in the imagination of the occupants. The other night attorney Huff heard him down at his house, the dog having given the alarm and kept on barking until Mr. Huff arose, got a lot of cartridges, loaded his gun and went out very thinly clad, having on nothing but a light night shirt, but the evening was pleasant and even if it hadn't have been it wouldn't have differed for he didn't mean to be molested in the dead hours of night by runaway negroes—meant to kill or be killed. He knew that he was moving at the risk of his life but he couldn't bear the thoughts of lying there and being robbed and maybe the whole family murdered.

It was certainly a serious occasion, nevertheless he went out with his gun, one barrel ready. The dog had the negro bayed in the corner of an out house. The intruder was crouched down so as not to attract the attention of any one until he could get away from the dog without being bitten, but he was espied by Mr. Huff who commanded the negro to throw up both hands, at the same time pulling the other hammer of his gun back and went bravely up, when to his surprise found it to be a live "gentleman" calf instead of a negro.

J. W. Chapman and wife, of Silver City, are here on a two or three weeks visit.

Capt. Ingwersen, general manager of the Consolidated Co.'s mines, has moved his office into the Hall Block.

In a short time we will present our readers with a picture of the churches in Dahlonega, two of which have been completed within the past two years.

Jack Arrendale, an old Dahlonega boy, who is now located at Glassboro, Tenn., was here on visit Tuesday, who reported wages good and times prosperous where he is at.

Another new enterprise has been added to Dahlonega's business being a first class laundry and dye house, owned by Harry Chester & Williams, the former being operated by a Chinaman.

There has been a difference in the weather since last week. On Monday morning it began to turn cool and by the following morning the thermometer registered 57 causing a change of heavier clothing to be very comfortable.

Major Price has not yet rendered his decision in the cases made against the parties last week for letting their cows run at large at night. Let no one else run any risk as they might get into it like we did about the hogs.

We will repeat, as has often been done, that we do not print obituaries for nothing. We do not have a notice at the head of our columns that "obituaries and tributes of respect are charged for", like you see in some papers and break the rule the first person coming along wanting one published.

There is a committee of ladies here who look after and care for the sick and needy in Dahlonega, but those having relatives in this condition should not depend upon these ladies to support them and their families—while sick or in distress, for they have enough to see to without doing this. It is the duty of kinspeople to care for each other.

There was a meeting of the board of directors of the Dahlonega & Gainesville Telephone Co., held in this city last Tuesday, all the members of the board were present except Prof. Stewart. The board approved an account of one hundred and fourteen dollars for repairs on the line ordered at its last meeting and done under supervision of Mr. Peter Athey who is an experienced electrician. Mr. Athey made great improvement in the line as any one talking over it can discover. At a meeting of the board two months ago the price for talking over the line was reduced from 25 cents to 15 cents between this city and Gainesville. This resolution was made to encourage all our people to use the line and ought to be appreciated by the public.

While Col. Farrow was in Dahlonega last Tuesday he informed us that there were persons spending the summer at Porter Springs from Galveston at the time of the recent disaster and the telephonic connection of the Springs with the world afforded those persons from Galveston great satisfaction. Not only were telegrams received at Gainesville passed over the telephone line to the relatives in Galveston but letters arriving in the Gainesville postoffice for them were at their request, read to them over the telephone line. Strictly speaking this was violating the postal regulations to open letters in Gainesville postoffice in transit and give the contents to the parties to whom they were addressed at Porter Springs even at their own request, but Col. Farrow took the responsibility of doing so under the extraordinary circumstances of this case. The parties had left numbers of their families in Galveston who passed through the disaster unharmed, but a few days it was impossible to hear from them. The telephone line from Gainesville via this city to Porter Springs enabled these people to keep as well posted as if they had been in Atlanta.

The rain of Friday and Saturday run all the candidates in. So you can imagine how hard it fell.

It commenced raining Thursday night of last week and on Friday it continued and no out door work could be done, neither could any country person could visit the city, being the first rain amounting to anything since June.

Mary Perry was adjudged a lunatic last Saturday by the jury and will be sent to the asylum. The warrant was swore out by her mother who was unable to do anything with her daughter, this being the best steps that could be taken by a parent although it is a very unpleasant task to perform.

Charlie Anderson, a colored musician, is in big trouble by making a division of love between two females of his race, resulting in Charlie having to peep through the jail grates until court unless he can make a $750 bond. All this was brought about because the defendant went down into Hall county a few days ago and wedded one who he fancied better than the one in Lumpkin, and when he returned with his bride

Cora Longstreet went before a squire and made oath that he was the father of her child, causing trouble in the camps.

Mr. Ash, the present overseer of the parson's home, seems to be giving perfect satisfaction. Besides improving the farm in many respects he gives the inmates of the home good attention, not only during life but after they are called away.

When one dies he does not chuck it into an old dry goods box and dump the remains off into a hole without even removing his hat, but has them dressed nicely and placed at rest in a very neat coffin with the assistance of a minister. There is no use of talking—a man or woman who treats poor people well is sure to get a large crown with extra trimmings on it in the other world.

We notice a very interesting article in the Augusta Chronicle of a recent date concerning Dahlonega and her mines, as given by ex-congressman Barnes of that city who recently visited our place. Mr. Barnes didn't remain a great while in our city, but the information given the reporter shows that he was not only on a pleasure trip but visited this section to gain all the information he could—not intended for the press then—but to satisfy his own curiosity, it being his first visit to the golden city of the mountains naturally caused him to make a closer investigation, more especially about the mines when Capt. Adams, President of the Consolidated Co., showed the gentleman and his lady one of their bricks of gold taken out at the Hand mine valued at four thousand and dollars. To say the least of the article it is very conservative, as Mr. Barnes dealt in facts and figures.

The case made against John Cain by Sarah Guerin recently, charging him with seduction, was a pretty expensive one to the county not to amount to anything. After she swore out the warrant he ran away and went to Jackson county. She followed and had him arrested and put in jail down there, where he remained several days before he was sent for by an officer. After arriving in Dahlonega he was kept in prison two weeks or more, all costing the county fifty or seventy-five dollars. And after finding out that the boy wouldn't marry her the woman swore out another warrant for bastardy, but before the day for the trial arrived she was persuaded away and did not appear and the defendant had to be discharged. Of course every person should be protected matters how low down they are, but such characters cause a good deal of trouble and expense, often for nothing, when it could be avoided by the officer complying with the law by making them give the required bond before a warrant is granted.

Editor Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser after visiting the Greenfield mine in the edge of Lumpkin county, has this to say of the property and its manager: A visit to the Greenfield mine seven miles east of Dawsonville, situated on and near the celebrated Betz, is enough to satisfy, especially practical miners, that the Greenfield is one among the best properties in this section. This mine since its infancy has been under the supervision of Capt. W. A. Crawford, and one to appreciate how the Captain's worth and knowledge as a miner has only to visit the mine and look at its

Mining Notes.

The chlorination plant at the Hand was started up yesterday.

Some more gentlemen have been here for several days looking over our gold fields, which may result in other property changing hands and new operations starting up at an early day.

Captain P. H. Scott, who for the past fifteen months has been in Dahlonega, in the capacity of Mill Constructor, and later superintendent of the big mill of the Consolidated, recently sent in his resignation to the company, and has retired from active work in the mill in order to take up his usual vocation as mill constructor. His place has been filled by the appointment of Mr. C. W. Forman, of Versailles, Mo. This gentleman has been for the past seventeen years superintendent of the large 120 stamp mill of the Alaska Mexican Mining Company of Douglas, Island, Alaska. He comes to his work for the Consolidated with the very highest endorsements from his former employers, who unreservedly state that he is by all odds one of, if not the best mill man in Alaska. His reputation a successful amalgamator and mill man is of the highest, while during his seventeen years with the Alaska Mexican Company he made a record second to none in the treatment of low grade ores, and was also highly successful in the saving of values. As the ores treated at the Alaska Mill are similar to those in this belt, the Nugget deems the Consolidated Company peculiarly fortunate in securing his services.

Mr. Forman arrived in our city on Monday, and immediately assumed his duties at the mill. We extend to the incoming and outgoing superintendents our best wishes for the greatest success.

W. W. MOBLEY MAKES AN EXPLANATION.

The following letter from W. W. Mobley, who seems to be the one referred to in these columns three weeks ago as appearing in Gaddistown during a revival and getting religion by accident, was received some time ago but was not published at that time because the writer didn't explain but one thing and that was that he is a poor boy and a long ways from home, but upon the second request we publish it, though if Mr. Mobley has got the old time religion the Nugget nor no person can injure him for we have often been told that you can't hurt a Christian. There has been so many dead beats passing through this country taking advantage of people by attending church, claiming to be members and christians when they had no more religion than a cat, and it was believed Mr. Mobley was one of the same stripe, but we have been told that he is the nicest kind of a hard working young man, who has conducted himself already so as to win the affections of one of Union county's prettiest young ladies, and we are glad of it. The following is his letter:

SARAH, GA., Sept. 3, 1900.
MR. EDITOR:—

In reply to an article in last week's NUGGET, speaking of a stranger in Gaddistown, as I thought the shoe fit me pretty well, for I was a stranger at Gaddistown, and was there at that time, and was glad I was there at that time, for I felt that I was greatly benefited by being there, and found many kind friends and I expect to stay in this country and show them just what I am, for I am only a poor boy and a long ways from home and expect to work for my living as long as I stay able to work. My home is in Monroe, Washington, and if any further information is wanted of me you can get it. Dear sir or Madam, if that article was thrown at me, please sign your name and also give mine in the next one, for I don't care who knows my name or where I am at. It's true I am out of money, and I expect if the truth was known the person that wrote that article has been out of money if not out now. Please give me his name in the next paper.

WHEN wanting a nice clean shave, hair cut or shampoo call on me at Underwood's. First class barber shop in every respect next door to McGee's store on main street, where they will be found ready to wait on you at any time

Respectfully,

C. T. SANFORD.

In reply we will state that we have not tried to down Mr. Sanford. Really if there has been an injustice done him he brought it about by his own actions. It's true as we were told by the marshal that he wasn't to settle the bill till the 15th, saying that the Consolidated Co. owed him and he could not get it until then, but when the mistress or her husband found out from the bookkeeper that the company was due him nothing led them to believe that the young man was trying to skip his board bill causing them to take steps to collect it before he reached the railroad. This was the foundation of his trouble, caused by himself and the NUGGET is in no way responsible for his embarrassment.

The two sieve guns secured from the national government by Governor Candler out of the number captured by the United States in Cuba, have been mounted on the capitol grounds on the Washington street side of the big building in Atlanta. The guns have been mounted on granite bases and prove interesting relics of the war with Spain.

The Walls in China.

When we recollect how industrious and enterprising the Chinese were centuries before Christ was born, it is folly to call the Chinaman an ignorant heathen in the accepted sense of the word. The great Wall of China was begun 214 years before Christ and it has been recorded that the last stone was laid within ten years.

It started at the coast town along the shore, and ran along the beach. When it turned westerly it went in almost a due line to the Yellow river. The length of the wall is computed to be 1,500 miles. There are towers built at regular intervals—composed of brick. The wall itself is faced with brick and stone, which encase smaller stone and mortar. At the base the width is from twenty to twenty-five feet thick sloping to fifteen feet on top. The wall was begun by the illustrious Emperor Tzhi Hoang-Ti, for the purpose of protecting the country from the hordes of barbarians then swarming in that part of China.

It is said many millions of men were thus engaged for the years, during which time a half million perished.

It has been also said that material was used in the construction of this wall to construct a small wall, two feet thick, twice around the world.

The Chinese empire embraces nearly or quite one-third of the continent and its population is estimated anywhere between four hundred and five hundred and fifty million of inhabitants.

It has a coast line of twenty-five hundred miles, and is divided into eighteen great provinces. If a partition of China is accomplished in a settlement of existing difficulties, there will be a province and a half for each of the nations involved in the attack on Pekin.

China is divided into three great valleys, each with its great river. The Hoang-Ho is 2,000 miles long, but a remarkably rapid river, while there is still a larger one, also 2,000 miles long, the Yang-Tse-Kiang, both connected by a great canal with Pekin, the capital. This canal is 650 miles long. But all their other works of skill and art are not equal to the Great Wall of China—the most remarkable construction ever erected by human hands.

In addition to the Great Wall of China there are walls within walls, defenses inside of fortifications, until it becomes evident that the army or nation which overcomes and conquers the Empire of China will have untold difficulties to encounter.

It is also well to remember that the Chinese were able to calculate eclipses before the Christian era, and a record is extant where a planetary conjunction was observed, which took place two thousand years before Christ was born. They claim an existence for more than 7,000 years.

Education is held in the highest esteem in China. A great majority of this dense population can read and write. The art of printing was practiced early as 202 B. C.—Mrs. W. H. Felton.

From Dr. Howard.

DAHLONEGA, GA., Sept. 15th 1900.

It is said that in a city of France one day a neatly dressed gentleman, but in a cheap and long worn garb entered a business house and applied for work but was not employed. He went out and walked slowly a short distance on the sidewalk stopping, he stooped down and picked up a pin and placed it in the lapel of his coat. The business gentleman remarked that surely he could make a man useful to him who would take care of so small an article of value as a pin, and called to him to return and gave him employment.

This poor man was the father of Margrue De Lafayette who came with a French fleet and army to aid Gen. Washington and the thirteen colonies to obtain their liberty and establish their Republic of the United States which event is only second to that of Moses leading the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage which people were finally brought into the land of Canaan and organized into a religious government under the direct instruction and influence of the Lord himself and was the first religious government from which race came the redeemer of the world, and we believe that the U. S. is the wilderness country which received and protected the woman and the child spoken of in the Bible in which republic became the country of civil and religious liberty to be a fight for all of the government.

Now we ask who was the mother of Moses and from what biblical history we have seen she not a woman of such greatness and goodness as a man as Moses the chosen leader of a nation in God's people. And so we might say of Gen. Washington's mother, wasn't she a good and wise woman worthy to be the mother of a great man and leader of a christian nation of people? But what shall we say of the mother of Gen. Lafayette? I do not remember seeing any account of her but she must have been a most remarkable woman to have been the mother and educator of such a remarkable man as Lafayette, for ordinary men.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 28, 1900.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga., P. O.
as Second Class Matter.

It is said by Goy. Savers of Texas, that it will take at least $2,000,000 to relieve the Galveston sufferers.

The citizens of Cleveland are expecting to get a telephone line from their town to Gainesville at an early day.

It is predicted that at least one hundred gallons of liquor will be used in Lumpkin county on election day by office seekers. This will certainly make it a very "jucy" day.

At Kansas city a soap factory has a kettle large enough to make fourteen car loads of soap at a time, says Capt. Lemon of Acworth, Ga., who saw it recently.

In talking to our present coroner, J. W. Satterfield, the other day he informed us that he had held the office twenty-two years and would continue to do so if the people felt that he had discharged his duties to their full satisfaction and would elect him. No doubt he has for he received several complimentary votes in the recent primary both in Frog Town district and Dahlonega but they were not counted.

A few days ago, Forest Denton, while hunting in the mountains beyond Murphy, N. C., discovered two skeletons. They were identified as the remains of Andrew Sherman and Oneal, two men who left Robbinsville for Murphy during the extreme cold weather of last winter. It is supposed that they were lost in the fog and frozen to death. It is said they were drinking when last seen. An inquest was held over the bodies and some money was found in the pockets of both men, doubled up in their pocketbooks. A check was found on Oneal, but was so badly decayed it could not be identified. The skeleton of Sherman was buried on top of Huckleberry Knob and the other skeleton was carried to Robbinsville. Thus ends another tragedy and another mystery is cleared up.—Southern World.

There seems to be trouble in several of the democratic camps in Georgia. Floyd and several other counties have independents for various offices. In Cobb county a resolution was passed by the executive committee long before the election that if any one used liquor or bought votes in the primary that their election should not be binding. It seems that some of the candidates did violate this rule, if not all, and the committee publishes a card reminding the voters of the fact. In Lumpkin county some of the candidates would go round and tell the voters that if they didn't want to vote the full ticket they could cast their ballots for those desired and it would not be binding for them to support the whole ticket in the final election. Now since some voters did this, they are told that it is binding.

Quite a little excitement happened in the mining section here two weeks ago, when the steam whistles sounded fourth unexpectedly on the Thompson mines. Two miners from the Crown Mountain ditch came here in search of work thinking they might be blowing for hands. The usual alarm of "fire" was rung down on the Reynolds, the men hustling to have the giant put in readiness should their assistance be needed. General Bob had his men "standing at arms" beside Long Tom on the Hamby, while John could not control his men on pins and needles themselves with picks and shovels for they had in the tunnel fearing that an enemy must be approaching. On inquiry however it was found that Mr. Lawrence was only saluting Mr. Blake who had just come in from Dahlonega to superintend mining maneuvers of the syndicate now pending.—Cleveland Courier.

WAR SONG.

Written on W. H. McAfee's Entering White County Sept. 26th, 1900.

It was on Monday evening just at the dim of night, McAfee and a Lawyer came here to fire up White, They lighted from their buggy, and said, friends how do you do? Why here's that man they all call "boss" come here to meet us too. They wandered off together and round a log they sat, The preacher got down upon his knees and begged to know what's what!

The lawyer appointed a committee to look after the democrat, While he would do his level best to down the negro flat. The meeting assembled at the "Parks" just at 7 p. m., The preacher was cautioned to wait awhile to let the drinks come in, Addressing the toilers and miners here, the "grammarians" began By straightening out the NUGGET press and the "blooming frying pan."

Fellow citizens! you know full well 'twas eighteen years ago, I was chosen by your people to go and fight the foe. I knocked there as best I could to have your taxes raised,

And at the last fond reading, your skillets were appraised.

The crops they quivered at the thought of having such a man, Deciding to dwell upon their fate Along with the frying pan, But I am McAfee, cried he, and from a mining view

God bless the revenue, like me, who always collects his due.

But now dear friends it's while you are here that I wish to have your vote, Although I am a preacher yet, a politician you must note. I have condemned my opponent in every place I've went, But when the election comes round remember this event.

And so, Good bye! and at the polls be there both gay and merry, For you cannot do a nobler deed than "vote for Castleberry."

He is the one out of the two that has not said a word,

But when it comes to action, he is ready to draw the sword.

You may ask yourself the question why should I make him shine, I'll plainly give the answer, having nothing to do with A "Reverend" in this, or a "Reverence on the Rhine."

Mr. McAfee in White.

NACOOCHIE, GA., Sept. 24.
DEAR EDITOR:—

For the last few days we have been having addresses delivered by the Rev. W. H. McAfee, whom your county has chosen to make the race for the Senate and look after democracy and the east iron taxation interests. From his discourse, which chiefly comprised the denunciation of his opponent in the most vile language and slangsly proseology, altogether unbefitting for a minister of the gospel which he pretends to be, and his great senatorial feats accomplished long since ago, saying nothing what he would do if returned, although the same was advertised.

When the election comes off we expect to find the democratic candidate fried up with moonshine in the skillet, and when the votes are counted will be seen on the road like a poisoned pup for home with a quill to his tail bound for the Piedmont Air-Line to be cured.

Yours, etc.,
A nonsupporter of the Revenue on the Rhine.

WHITE COUNTY.

During the last three weeks, it has failed to Judge Gober's lot to have to sentence three women to the penitentiary for infanticide. One in Pickens county, one in Gordon county and one in Cherokee county. The woman in Cherokee beat her child's brains out against a tree.

GEORGIA PENSIONS.

A Plan Suggested to Purge the List.

ATLANTA, Sept. 21.—Georgia's pension rolls are on the increase. Some of the ordinaries are reporting new names to be added to the list of beneficiaries. These they say have been overlooked in previous years. It has dropped out that there is a sort of rivalry among some of these officials to see who can furnish the greater number of new names to go on the list. One of these ordinaries has written to an official in the state house that an ordinary living in an adjoining county had added twenty new pensioners to the list in his county, while the writer in a despondent vein stated that twelve was the best he could find. A prominent Georgian said today when discussing the increase in the number of pensioners in this state: "I think that the growth of the number of applicants is due to the warm heart and flexible conscience of some of our ordinaries who in their desire to help out a friend have shown considerable leniency in passing on pension papers. They hate to stand in the way of keeping a friend from drawing a pension, and besides may lose his vote on election day if the papers were turned down. I have a plan to suggest that I think would remedy the existing evil and would do much to purge the list and keep it purged. It would cost the state some money, but I believe that the state would save many thousands of dollars in the end. My plan is to appoint a pension commission of no three members, even a less number would do, one of which shall be a practicing physician of good standing and let this commission visit every county in the state each year and pass upon the applicants for pensions. This commission should visit upon a given day and publication in the county paper when the committee would arrive would be all the notice required to let the applicants come up and present their claims. The board could then pass upon each applicant, and the physician on the board could look into the man's physical condition and make a report on the same. I think that in this way a good many men who are now drawing pensions unlawfully would be cut off and the state would save large sums of money."

Rev. Alfred Parks, of Charleston, S. C., preached at Cane Creek church a few miles above Dahlonega last Sunday. Mr. Reid was born and reared in Lumpkin county, who went to Africa a short time before the war where he remained fourteen years before returning to this country. He is now seventy-two years of age and according to nature has not got long to live, and this may be his last visit to his relatives in this section, although he is quite stout and healthy for a man of his age.

Some idea of the magnitude of the strike of the United Mine Workers in Penn., may be had by the estimate, which has been made, of the loss it will entail if it shall continue for two months. This estimate places the loss in wages at $8,400,000, the loss to railroad at $20,000,000. This does not include the loss and inconvenience that will be caused to other industries dependent upon anthracite coal.

Dr. S. Wm. MICHENER is an authority for the statement that nervousness is the characteristic malady of the American nation, and statistics show that nearly death from nervousness is all the more recorded, the mortality being mainly among young people.

is the grand specific for this great American disease, because it goes straight to the source of the weakness, building up health and strength by supplying rich, abundant nutriment to the body, and worn-out tissues, rousing the liver to activity and regulating all the organs of the body.

The Michigan Drug Co., Detroit, Mich., manufactures the famous little liver pills.

WHY WE ARE NOT IN POLITICS.

A gentleman asked us the other day why we didn't go into politics and join the democratic party. We used to belong to that party but those belonging to it desired so many changes that we left them and are now out of politics entirely as one party is just about as hard to suit as the other. Some ten years ago all the lawyers who resided in the county then that are now making democratic speeches, all the leading democratic officials including seven-eights or more of the democratic executive committee and three-fourths of the candidates recently elected at the democratic primary in Lumpkin county, were for Capt. F. W. Hall, a repubican who was elected to the legislature from this county. These men who are democratic now said then that it didn't make any difference about a man's politics when it came to the legislature or county officers. So we have decided long ago to quit politics entirely and take up their first proposition—"vote for the best man." And last but not least, one of the negroes who is on the republican committee, causing much to be said by these democratic voting instructors used to be paid to go into Wahoo district just before every election nearly and use his influence to have the negroes over there vote for the men the democrats desired. Every word of this is true.

Joe Kemp, colored, died of hydrocephalus on A. P. McLain's place last week. The doctor in attendance says it was undoubtedly a case of rabies. He was bitten by a little flea dog while holding it in his lap. He died in great agony. He couldn't bear the sight of water.

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 28, 1900.

Charlie Rice visited relatives at Monticello this week.

If you desire any job work done neat, cheap and quick, send it to this office.

If you have any produce to sell you can get rid of it at a fair price in Dahlonega.

See notice of J. W. Boyd, elsewhere, who is closing out the business of the Hughesestate.

We notice that pension claims are still being sent off from this county by Confederate veterans.

H. D. Garley is going to have one of the nicest and most complete business houses in Dahlonega.

Students and others should bear in mind that we furnish and print envelopes as cheap as you can buy the blank ones elsewhere.

There has been a good deal of trading going on in Dahlonega this week judging from the blank deeds we have sold within the past few days.

That was a happy reunion on the road the other day. They removed two doves, except the male "bird" was much the oldest and largest.

Dahlonega has not exactly quarantined against Gainesville or Hall county but no one is allowed to come here who has been exposed to the scarlet fever.

R. W. Walker, of Dahlonega, received the sad intelligence last Monday of the death of his brother, Joel A. Walker which occurred in Columbus, Ga., on the day previous.

"Uncle" Ed Sullins and Mrs. Julia Poston, both of this county, were wedded last Sunday. The bride is 40 and the groom is 70, both being old enough to know which road to travel in order to reach prosperity.

J. N. Satterfield, independent candidate for tax receiver, is down sick, and we are requested to say that he will not likely be able to see all the voters of the county before the election but hopes that they will remember him on the 3rd day of next month by giving him their support.

A. W. Smith, one of White county's most wide awake and prosperous farmers, while in our office last Friday informed us that he was going to start to Texas first of the month on a business trip. Mr. Smith is quite an old man, nevertheless he is full of energy, and one who is never idle.

It will be seen that the state and county taxes in Lumpkin will be $1.05 on one hundred dollars this year, and those living in Dahlonega with the city tax taxed on of 70 cents for property tax and $8 for the scavenger man will run it up pretty steep, saying nothing of the $3 street tax, dog, cow and hog taxes.

An old time church member asked us recently why we didn't publish more religious news than we do. It is impossible. We can't publish that which does not occur.

The Presiding Elder undertook to publish a religious paper here and had to move it to another place. This is election year and you can't tell who is a member of the church until after the election. They are carrying out that passage of scripture we suppose which says there is a time for all things.

Our office was visited last Friday by J. H. Smith, of Findlay, Ohio, in company with his son-in-law, Dr. Grove, of Dahlonega. Mr. Smith owns stock in the Consolidated Co., who seems very well pleased with the progress that is being made at the mine. This is his second visit, being about two years since he was here last, the big mill and many other improvements have been made since he was with us. We hope the gentleman will visit us often and stay longer.

Capt. Ingorsoll's residence is being touched up with the painter's brush in the hands of Ike Reid.

If you desire your sewing machines or clocks repaired call on H. E. Watson. See ad. elsewhere.

Under the city ordinance no hog or hogs can be kept in a close pen within half a mile of the court house until the first of November.

P. H. Scott, who constructed the big plant for the Consolidated Co., has completed his work to the perfect satisfaction of the company and will leave for his home at Ouray, Colorado, in company with his lady, in a day or two. Mr. Scott and his good lady have made many friends since arriving in our city some fifteen months ago, all of whom regret very much to see them depart.

Last Tuesday was the last return day for the Superior Court of Lumpkin county and the following is a list of cases filed to wit:

Henry Johnson vs. The Dahlonega Consolidated G. M. Co.—Suit for damage. A. G. Hynds Mfg. Co. vs. J. W. Woodward—Complaint.

Nannie L. Walker vs. M. H. Anderson—Complaint for land. S. F. Carpenter vs. Frank Lowery—Complaint for land.

Besides four cases for the divorce mill as follows: Flossie Curtis vs. Floyd Curtis. Robt. W. Beck vs. Doc Beck. Joannah Gillispie, Alexander Gillispie, James Roberts, col., vs. Mary Roberts, col.

The clerk of the Superior Court has just received the list of state pensioners residing in Lumpkin county to be presented to the next grand jury for their inspection to see if any are drawing money not entitled to it under the law.

The present number on the roll residing in this county is as follows:

41 indigent, 17 widows, all drawing $60 each, and 16 invalids, one drawing $5, one $30, one $100,

and the remainder get $50 each, making a grand total of $4,265.

Some of the indigents are perfectly penniless and unable to do anything while a few are working some and with the assistance of the $60 from the state never have to go hungry or naked.

It seems to be a very hard matter to get a patient in the lunatic asylum now unless they are very dangerous on account of the institution being full. If most of the murderers were hung instead of being sent to the asylum there would be more room for the unfortunate who are entitled to it.

As matters now stand the legislative will have to appropriate more money to enlarge the buildings.

While in conversation with one of our business men the other day upon the subject he said that he thought another asylum should be located in this part of the state somewhere, of course on the railroad, so as to accommodate those living in and used to the mountain climate. No doubt if this was done numbers of patients would recover more rapidly than if sent to a climate which they are not used to.

It turns out that certain men who have been in Dahlonega escorting young girls, claiming to be unmarried have wives. And on the other hand we know of certain young girls who are flirting with men who at the same time are aware that these men have wives.

Girls should be very cautious about fritting with strangers. If they will only look back a few years in Dahlonega they can easily be convinced that they are doing wrong.

The Baptist Standard certainly hits

the nail on the head when it says:

"It seems to be understood by general consent that if a woman errs her sin is to be held against her forever. A man can be a profigate and a debauchee and no door of society or club is closed against him but if a woman goes astray

there is never to be a kind word thereafter said to her, or a tender prayer offered for her soul. This is because men are tigers and women are merciless."

Remember that you will find at the NUGGET office blank deeds, Power of attorney, bonds for title and many other blanks.

We have one wild or stray hog, the owner, if there is one, can have it by describing and paying expenses. B. R. MEADERS & SONS.

Mr. Quirital, a new comer, now occupies the Bruce residence formerly occupied by the secretary and one of the book keepers of the Consolidated Co.

Mr. Morrison, of St. Louis, spent several days in our city this week. We did not learn the object of his visit but suppose it was mostly to inspect the mines.

Vice-President Breymann of the Consolidated Co. came down from the north this week. Mr. Breymann visits our city frequently and is a gentleman who has a close eye to business. Mr. Breymann will take charge of the mines and run them more economically.

The little ten months old child of Will Satterfield died in Dahlonega last Saturday night of whooping cough. It was the only child they had and its absence in the household will be greatly missed.

Wm. Donaldson who has been a candidate for tax collector requests us to say that he is out of the race. All other candidates under the head of "announcements" are still in the race as well as those elected at the democratic primary appearing on first page.

In referring to the gentleman from Florida who has purchased the Mayhugh lot and laying it off into town lots we stated that it was being done by J. H. Taylor when it should be J. H. Tatem. From what we learn there is a big difference between the two men is why we do not wish to get the latter gentleman's name mixed up with the other man.

And yet we have business men in Dahlonega who have their envelopes printed elsewhere. They have large quantities printed and can, they think, get the work done cheaper. Give us the same amount of work and we will do it just as well and as cheap and say you all that trouble. Remember the local press is always helping business men in many ways when those away won't do you thankyou jobs.

We have been requested by Mr. Palmer, who recently lost his wife in Dahlonega, to extend his thanks to the kind citizens here who rendered every assistance possible during the sickness and death of his dear companion, causing him to have a very kind feeling towards the citizens of Dahlonega and a warm spot will ever be in his breast for each and every one who he has been sent to the asylum there would be more room for the un-

fortunate who are entitled to it.

As matters now stand the legislative will have to appropriate more

money to enlarge the buildings.

There has been another row in Fighting Town recently in the eastern part of this county we learn.

This time Squire John Redmond

being one of the participants, John and Charlie Walden whipped Laws

Teal one night and the following

Sunday after Lawson got sober

he called round and whipped

Charlie. Charlie then swore out a warrant and bad Lawson arrested which was afterwards settled by

Teal paying the cost. Nothing serious, however.

Frank Patterson, residing near

Lula, Ga., was sent after by Sheriff

Dayis last Monday and arrested and brought back by Will Rice on a warrant sworn out by Wm. Rickets, of Dahlonega, charging him with stealing his dog. As soon as they arrived it was ascertained that they had the wrong man who was dismissed and another warrant issued for his brother David Pattersen, who was arrested and made a hundred dollar bond for his appearance to the commitment trial to which takes place here to-morrow. The dog was at Patterson's but it is claimed that it followed

Daye Patterson home, who states that he had no intention of stealing it.

Lieut. Fred Price is now in Chi- na.

Be sure and pay attention and renew your subscription as soon as it expires if you want the NUGGET to continue its weekly visits.

E. E. Crisson is preparing to put up a small business house on the corner of his lot next to Rice's shop, which will likely be occupied by a jeweler.

John B. Stringer, of Grace, Ga., leaves for the West next Monday. He goes to Oklahoma to see if he can find a home that suits him better than the one he has in Lumpkin county. If he does he will return and carry his family.

The physicians went down last Wednesday to amputate Brady's right leg, which was broken while he was at work at the Hand mine recently, but decided to wait until to-day, (Thursday) before doing it so as to save his knee if possible.

So far there is no county surveyor candidate. The democrats could not find any one that would have it and we suppose that it is ditto on the other side. One reason is it pays nothing, simply because most of those having any surveying to do with any money in it generally have some expert to do it. We would suggest that the people vote for, if he can be found, one who can survey out Gaddistown street up by Rices residence.

Different city councils for the past thirty years have spent much money in trying to get a correct line and they have been unable to do so yet as each one has run a new line.

Right lately the names of Ben Brackett of Auraria and attorney Bryson of Dahlonega have been spoken of as being possible candidates to make an investigation. This is the first time that the tax collector

can appoint such persons that he desires who are authorized to open or carry around a book so as to allow parties an opportunity to register their names in the same hand writing with no witness to each. But the law is not carried out here—this is Lumpkin.

Every candidate who wishes picks up a piece of brown paper and goes out and hunts up all those who he thinks will support him—not caring whether the others register at all or not—and brings them in, many of the names in the same hand writing on the same paper.

Then the registrars take a hand.

If any of them are too busy to attend to the investigation, or have a job that pays them more money, they appoint some idle friend to act in their places. This is the way the registering business is carried on in Lumpkin county. Now at this last sitting they find 1,356 persons entitled to vote this time in this county, according to Lumpkin's method of doing business, that is if none are on the insolvent list which is yet to be investigated.

Another list of voters was sent in as late as Tuesday but no attention was paid to it. The following is the number entitled to vote in each district: Auraria 128, Cane Creek, 57, Chestnut, 88, Crumby 20, Davis' 71, Dahlonega 326, Frog Town 40, Hightower 60, Jones Creek 24, Martin's Ford 57, Mill Creek 48, Nimblewill 99, Porter Springs 78, Shool Creek 74, Wahoo 64, Yahoola 92.

Mrs. H. E. Wilson, of Savannah, Ga., is the guest of Col. and Mrs. W. A. Charters.

Last Tuesday death relieved the suffering of the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Roberts which has been sick near six months.

Two men, one colored and the other white, have come near passing in their checks within the past few days in Dahlonega from an overdose of mean liquor, causing them to see young alligators and monkeys.

A nice line of White Lawns, white finish braid, Lonsdale canary, etc., darning cotton, pearl buttons, etc., at Frank Rees's. Also fresh cheese and crackers. And when you want a pair of Misses Ladies or Mens Rubbers, also Mens Arctic you can find a complete line there.

Yesterday morning a certain person while across the ridge from the public school house, saw an old white man hide something in a sack in a brush pile. Thinking it was a jug of liquor he came off as soon as the old fellow left to make an investigation. In reaching down and pulling out the sack a chicken scolded. They tore the sack open and out jumped one of Mr. Palmer's big fine hens which ran down towards home. This proves that negroes are not all the ones who steal chickens.

The Registrars of this county, two represented by proxy, have acted this week and passed upon all the names appearing upon the registration book and lists.

The law plainly says that the tax collector

can appoint such persons that he wishes to have registered to make an investigation. The law is a law against illegal registering but as the whole thing is illegal we don't know how or who could be punished. Then the registrars take a hand. If any of them are too busy to attend to the investigation, or have a job that pays them more money, they

appoint some idle friend to act in

their places. This is the way the

Why he is Crazy.

A man in the insane asylum gives the following reasons why he is crazy:

"I met a young widow with a stepdaughter, and the widow married me. Then my father, was a widower, met my step-daughter, and married her. That made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and made my step-daughter my mother and my father my step-son. Then my step-mother, the step-daughter of my wife, had a son. That boy, of course, was my brother because he was my father's son. He was also the son of my wife's step-daughter, and therefore her grand-son. That made me grand-father to my step-brother. Then my wife had a son. My mother-in-law, the step-sister of my son, is also his grand mother because he is her step-son's child. My father is the brother-in-law of my child, because his step-sister is his wife. I am the brother of my own son, who is also the child of my step-grandmother. I am my mother's brother-in-law, my wife is her own child's aunt, my son is my father's nephew, and I am my own grand-father. And after trying to explain the relationship in our family some seven times a day to our calling friends for a fortnight I was brought here—no, came of my own will."

A WONDERFUL CURE OF DIARRHOEA,

A Prominent Virginia Editor Had Almost Given up, but was Brought Back to Perfect Health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

From the Times, Hillside, Va. I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this cure, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well and the trouble and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a Hale and hearty man to-day and felt as well as I ever did in my life.—O. A letter can be sent from Florida to the Klondyke, a distant of over 700 miles for two cents, thirty days being consumed in its transmission. If it were carried by courier the time would not be lessened and the cost would be increased to something like $300. And the annual weight of mail carried is 804,286,868 pounds. To transport it would require 33,214 freight cars forming a train 300 miles long, hauled by 500 locomotives having 900,000 horse power, and requiring seven miles of track, so says the Scientific American.

There is more Cathar in this section of the country than all other districts put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cathar to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catharic, made and prepared by F. J. Schlegel & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

At Weatherly, Pa., the other day a miser of the name of Lavrier died of starvation with $2,000 in his pocket and $50,000 in bank. He had made it a rule never to break a bill for his own accommodation and never to draw money from the bank for his own personal wants. Finding himself without small change, he starved rather than break a bill. No sincere regret is felt for the taking off of such a man. His heirs, it may be expected, will shortly be breaking the bills fast enough.—Ex.

Empire's Doctor Bill.

It costs the United States government the enormous sum of $720,000 to keep surgeons and other medical officers in the Philippines. This does not include nurses, hospital attendants and medicines. The official records show that there are 400 medical officers in the Philippines at an average salary of $1,800. The war department bulletined recently a statement that the sickness in the Philippine army was slightly over 8 per cent of 60,000 men, or a total sick of 2,000. That, it is alleged, is the average normal sickness. If this statement of numbers, which the war department says was copied by MacArthur, was true, then the United States government spends $720,000 for the care of 5,000 sick men, or $144 per man, exclusive of the cost of medicines, nurses, and hospital attendants. Another astonishing fact is that it requires 400 surgeons and other medical officers to take care of 2,000 men if the official records speak the truth. In other words it requires one contract surgeon at $1,800 a year to take care of about twelve men.—Ex.

As the Cleveland Courier of a recent date says: "Let every man see to it that the vote he casts is for true men and those in whom confidence can rest. It is a duty we owe our country to see that our officers are men of ability rather than cross road politicians."

THE Crown Mountain Gold Mining & Milling Co.

The Crown Mountain properties are situated in the very heart of the Georgia gold belt and is in the radiating center of all the leading gold veins of the Dahlonega district. They embrace what is believed to be the mother lode of the Appalachian Range.

The extensive and rich ore bodies in sight upon these properties assure long continued mining operations and the indisputable guarantee of the permanent and increasing value of the stock of "The Crown Mountain Co."

The projectors of this company were the first to revive the mining industry in this district in 1896. After three years of careful and extensive examination of all the mines of the district of reputation as gold producers, and they had the choice of all, they selected the Crown Mountain combination as the ideal gold mine of the district which would yield or produce the most gold with the least expense. This opinion is shown by all the mining engineers, mining experts, miners and citizens of any standing in the district who are familiar with the properties. As an evidence of this we state that the citizens of the town of Dahlonega and vicinity have taken stock in this company than in all the other companies combined that have originated in this district.
